

Jane MURPHY No.1

I work in catering. I am very concerned about the direction Irish politics is taking and our loss of sovereignty via political obedience to bankers. (1) Support total banking reform. The government must issue the money into circulation not the Central bank or others. (2) Support direct democracy to return power to the people for proposing, vetoing or initiating policies. (3) Stop Fluoridation/GMS. With our elected Government issuing and controlling money all our social problems can be addressed. A more just equitable and stable society can emerge and grow. Defending life from the moment life begins to natural end.

Direct democracy is a system of government that gives citizens the ability to have a say in government decisions, and offers the opportunity for people to live in a fairer society by participating in the decision making process on an ongoing basis, rather than ticking a box every four or five years.
