Putting Ireland first.

A president you can trust.

Putting Ireland first DANA ROSEMARY SCALLON A President you can trust.

Ireland needs a President we can trust. The EU/IMF takeover is hurting all of us, but we can emerge from this crisis if we put our people and our country first. The Presidency is not just about ceremony, it's about protecting your Constitutional rights and giving you a voice. You know you can trust me to do that.

▶ I will be a President for all of the people. A strong President that you can trust, and that has always told the truth. I would be honoured to listen to you, to raise the issues most important to you, and to make sure you have a meaningful forum where your voice is heard.

▶ As President, I will always protect Ireland's sovereignty - because our Constitution says the people must have the right to decide. The EU/IMF force us to bail out the bondholders and the banks, while politicians betray the trust of the people. You deserve better.

▶ I will be a truly independent President. I have no political ties, no agenda, no favours to repay and no vested interests. I will re-build trust between the people and the institutions that have failed them.

▶ It has been my privilege to be a worldwide ambassador for Ireland for over 40 years - in the European Parliament, in global forums and on the world stage. I will focus the spotlight on Ireland, her culture and her people, and will also appoint cultural ambassadors to raise Ireland's profile, and help to bring jobs and investment.

▶ There should be no forgotten Irish, either at home or abroad. I will always put Ireland and her people first.
Can I ask you to give me your number 1 vote on October 27th - put Ireland first, with a president you can trust.
